The current security landscape is constantly evolving, with new and complex threats emerging on a regular basis. This creates a significant challenge for organizations, as they often find that their traditional, siloed approach to security is inadequate in addressing the dynamic nature of today's threat environment. As a result, many businesses are now seeking solutions that provide centralized visibility across all security systems, faster resolution of security issues, and access to expert help in order to protect their organization from these threats.

You need smart, adaptable security solutions that can protect your business, built upon the global experience and perspective of 9,000+ CyberSecurists. For many, that solution is Wipro, a trusted industry leader in security and operations services with a proud history of over 75 years across 66 countries.

Business moves faster with Wipro, as we rapidly equip and enable transformation of your enterprise. Security teams can enhance their Trellix technology with Wipro experts who continuously evolve strategy and response to protect against motivated adversaries. Wipro's Managed Detection and Response (MDR) is an industry-leading rapid threat detection and response service based on over 20 years of industrial grade in-the-trenches cybersecurity experience. Wipro's experts identify, investigate, and eliminate cyber threats, mitigating risk to your business. Together we leverage your Trellix solutions to maximize your returns and help you realize the full power of your investments.

Wipro seamlessly integrates with Trellix's broad portfolio of endpoint, email, network, cloud, and other security products. It also easily connects with third-party security apps. Trellix products combined with Wipro expertise offers customized security that will help your organization face the security challenges you see, every hour of every day.

Trellix approaches cyber security differently, offering a living XDR architecture that adapts quickly to dynamic threats and delivers advanced intelligence. Partnering with Wipro, our extended detection and response (XDR) tools consolidate multiple security products into a unified platform for efficient incident detection and response.
